Strathclyde University Postgraduate Programme in Genealogical, Palaeographic and Heraldic Studies

The Postgraduate Programme in Genealogical, Palaeographic and Heraldic Studies at the University of Strathclyde is pleased to announce two new ways to undertake study in the Programme.

Modular version of the Postgraduate Certificate

From the autumn of 2015, students will be able to take the Postgraduate Certificate level in a modular format, taking the 6 required modules over 2-3 years thus allowing greater flexibility and an easier workload overall. Students can enter the introductory module of the Programme at three points during the year; October, January or April and then progress at a pace that suits them. The course content and assessments will be the same as the 1-year version of the Certificate which will still be offered. Modules will need to be taken sequentially but they will be offered at different points throughout the year; to achieve the PG Certificate, all modules will need to be passed successfully.

The cost per module for academic year 2015-16 will be £530 for UK and EU applicants. The application deadline is about one month before the introductory module begins.

One-year MSc

The three part time levels of the Postgraduate Programme have been running successfully for a number of years and there has been demand from potential students for a one-year option combining all levels. We have received approval from the University to offer this version of the Programme and this will begin in mid-September 2015 (depending on student recruitment).

The content will be equivalent to the existing postgraduate courses, viz:

- o Term 1 – PgCert content (September – December: 13 weeks)
- o Term 2 – PgDip content (January – April: 13 weeks, plus Easter week)
- o Term 3 – MSc dissertation (April – July: 6 weeks)

The course will take place online with mandatory tutorial sessions on Fridays which will happen via an audio/video link (such as Skype or AdobeConnect). We anticipate students will need to allow for 40 hours a week for reading, completing assessments and taking part in the mandatory tutorials.

For further information on these additions to our Postgraduate Programme, please visit our webpage at: www.strath.ac.uk/genealogy/ or call 0141 548 2392.

The society has now changed its legal form to a SCIO. A Scottish Charitable Incorporated Organisation is a legal structure which has been purpose built for the charity sector in Scotland. It provides limited liability and a separate legal identity to organisations that want to become charities but do not want or need the complex structure of company law. This means that even the smallest charity can access the benefits of incorporation – including limited liability and legal capacity. In other words the committee is not held responsibly financially unless they are negligent.

Alloway and Southern Ayrshire FHS

It is with regret that we have to give notice of the forthcoming closure of the Alloway & Southern Ayrshire Family History Society. This has been brought about because we have been unable to fill the necessary committee positions to run the Society.

An Extraordinary General Meeting was therefore called on 20 January 2015, and with much reluctance expressed by those members present, the decision was made to dissolve the Society at the end of the Society's Financial Year on 31 March 2015.

Our first year at our new premises within Manchester Central Library has been both rewarding and trying. We have had problems with the location for some of our meetings, but the surroundings are a great improvement. These initial problems have now been resolved; they were mainly due to so many partners using the same facilities. One adverse aspect of being in such a large space has been the loss of social contact prior to our meeting with that discussion and assistance from which we all benefited. That is one of the subjects that the committee has under review. One benefit has been the Helpdesk, open to all users of the Library and which has led to a small increase in Society members.

Our meeting in March will be about Robert Adam, Culzean Castle and the Adam Style. For our April meeting the subject will 'Dating Victorian Photographs' by Linda Clarke from Cheshire Record Office. Future meetings will cover WW1 Research, Scottish Family History on the Web as well as Ancestry workshops and members talking about their Ancestral breakthroughs. Full details of our meetings are available on our website.

We continue to add to our Scottish Marriage Index, for which new entries are always welcome. For details again see our website.

Meetings are held on the third Saturday of each month, starting at 2 pm, except August and December and non-members of the Society are always welcome.

ASGRA is delighted to announce the successful applications of the following new members: Sonia Baker, Dunbar; Lorna Kinnaird, Edinburgh, who has converted from probationer status; Ian Marson, Maltby. We have also just admitted our first Affiliate: Graham Holton, Glasgow. We welcome them all, and look forward to working with them.

At the AGM in February, Janet Bishop was returned as ASGRA Chairman for her 6th year. Also at the AGM, Alan MacLeod, a member since the 1980s, was appointed President of ASGRA. Alan was also a founder member of SAFHS.

Our partnership with AGRA continues, and Kirsty Wilkinson is now the ASGRA rep to AGRA Council.

ASGRA Council is in discussion with the SAFHS Executive regarding our provisional bid to host the 2017 SAFHS Conference in Edinburgh, and further details will be announced in due course.

The Society magazine is sent to members in February, June and October and over 20% of our members have chosen to receive the magazine by email. Our magazine team would be interested in receiving any articles or news for inclusion.

Our most recent publication was "Innerleithen Shops" researched by Bobby Richardson, looks at the shops around the High Street. The businesses and the proprietors from as early as the 1820's are listed with a good selection of old photographs.

Copies of many old invoices have been included, courtesy of the Tennant family at the Glen.

Our "online" volunteers continue to make a huge contribution to the resources we can use in our research especially the indexing of the Police & Criminal records. Current focus is on the Hawick Criminal Register 1903 – 1908 and the Roxburghshire Criminal Register of 1854 - 1872. The Monumental Inscriptions project has continued over the winter months with some recording and photography at Preston and Teviothead. Any new volunteer recorders and transcribers would be most welcome.

Keep an eye on our website, Facebook page and twitter for updates on events, projects and news.

Preparations for the 26th Annual SAFHS Conference are keeping us busy at the moment as we try to fit as many bookstalls into the accommodation as possible. Being a small Society the burden falls on the Committee which at the moment is three members short and has been for some years.

Luckily we now have use of a second hall which was let out every Saturday morning but the Church has been very accommodating by allowing the use of the second hall all day and we are treating the Boys' Brigade to a Friday night out at the tubing on the dry ski slope. This means that access to the hall on the Friday night is now available and after the tables are set out we will be providing a small reception with tea, coffee and shortbread from 6.30pm-8pm approx for anyone who is able to be with us.

This year apart from at least 3 new Committee members we need a new Chairperson and a Syllabus Secretary. Attempts at persuading volunteers are proving fruitless so we just have to hope that at the AGM all will be resolved.

Memberships continue to fall and many of the older members who are unable to attend meetings but always renewed their membership now feel unable to continue supporting the Society in this way. Despite running family history drop in sessions in St Ninians Library once a month very few want to join the Society. Attendance at meetings continue to be steady which is encouraging. Hopefully we will continue to enjoy the support of members as we face the challenges of the future.

Meetings: Evening meetings are held at 7 pm in The Johnnie Walker Bond, Strand Street, Kilmarnock on the second Thursday of the months September to May. Visitors are welcome. Workshops are held in The Cabin, Witch Road, Kilmarnock from 1.45 pm to 3.45 pm on most other Thursday afternoons throughout the year. The introduction of a 15-minute tutorial on a research topic at some of the workshops is proving popular.

At the January meeting George English gave a presentation about Family History Research and answered questions from members. On February 12 Barbara Graham spoke about the events leading up to the 1715 Jacobite Rising and some of the personalities involved. At the time of writing we look forward to two events this month. At the EAFHS meeting on March 12 Bill Howie will talk about Photography and Family History. The following week, the joint meeting of the family history societies in Ayrshire is being hosted by Largs and North Ayrshire FHS. As well as the opportunity to exchange information and socialise there will be a selection of short films from the Scottish Screen Archive [SSA]. For information about the SSA see <http://ssa.nls.uk>

At the meeting in April Mr J Thomson will speak on Social History and Robert Burns. The AGM will be held on May 14 and will be followed by short talks given by members. Information about the opening meetings of the new session in the autumn are listed in the Diary Dates section of this publication.

Events: EAFHS will have a stand at the SAFHS Conference in Stirling on Saturday 25 April and at the South Ayrshire Local History and Family History Fair in the Walker Halls, Troon on Saturday 6 June. If you are attending either of these events, do come and meet us.

Membership: Details about membership of the Society can be found on our website. A new E-membership was introduced this session with a reduced subscription and has had an encouraging take-up. E-members receive all communications by email and magazines as PDF attachments.

Largs and North Ayrshire FHS

As speaker at our December meeting and social, we had our Honorary Vice-President, Judith Davenport. Her subject was 'Dalry Remembered' - and well-remembered it was too. She told us of the town's origins and how it developed and the changes over the centuries.

Our first meeting in 2015, was given by Allan Hodgkinson, one of a group formed to restore and promote Portencross Castle, which was featured in the BBC's 'Restoration' programme. We were taken from the beginning of the project to the present, taking in its history and the breath taking views from the battlements with the aid of a Powerpoint presentation.

February's talk was titled 'Fairlie's Men of the Great War'. This project organised by Fairlie Community Association was achieved through funding from 'Awards for All'. Many local people were involved including the primary school. During the showing of a slide of the discharge papers of Alfred Davis, a member interrupted to say that he was his father.

A group will be off to the Burns Monument Centre, Kilmarnock, to do some research on the 10th March. This is an interesting and exhausting visit, but, it may solve a few mysteries or create more, and so give us all lots to talk about.

On the 19th March, the Society is hosting the Joint Meeting for all four of Ayrshire's family history societies, where representatives of the Scottish Screen Archives will be showing films relevant to the area in the Clark Memorial Hall. This will be followed by some hospitality and a good chat.

April 14th will bring Fiona Hayes from Glasgow Libraries to speak about the 'Great Glasgow Exhibitions 1888 and 1911'.

The AGM will be on the 12th May and after the business is over, we shall be producing pictures of our ancestors to try to decide the year, within five to ten years, in which the photograph was taken,

The Workshops held on the last Thursday of each month from September to April continue to be well-attended. The numbers at meetings are holding up well.

The Society meets in the Community Room of Largs Library, 26, Allanpark Street, Largs, KA30 9AG, unless previously stated, on the second Tuesday of each month from September to April.

Lothians FHS

The Lothians Family History Society is a voluntary organisation consisting of members interested in promoting the study of genealogy and family history. We are situated in the Library at the Lasswade Centre, Bonnyrigg which is just a stone's throw away (7 Miles south) from Edinburgh.

The Society has a number of resources at its disposal. There is a selection of books and pamphlets for the absolute beginner, some more specialised guides for the more advanced members and newsletters from other Family History Societies. There are files on alternative sources of information from Scottish Public Libraries to the National Repositories like National Records of Scotland. We have an expanding collection of Edinburgh Directories of various dates, files of commercial search organisations and of various courses and events. Of course the library has a number of publications and a collection of maps covering Scotland and Northern England.

The Society strives to keep all its members interested and we have access to the library's computers and the Internet. Many members have volunteered in projects, e.g. indexing of burial registers as well as their own interests or just helping others with their research. There are many more details about the Society which you will find on our web site.

When does the Society meet?

Every Wednesday from 7pm to 9pm. We have a varied programme to suit all.

Where:

Lasswade Centre
Eskdale Drive
Bonnyrigg

The society provides a newsletter, thrice yearly, to members to inform and keep abreast of the activities by members or just provide interesting stories about family history. If you have anything you think might interest the members, whether it is pertinent to your family or not, or something you have found of interest, funny or otherwise, the society would be grateful to hear from you.

A 'Members Area' has been created on the Lothians FHS website where members can view videos of the talks if they are unable to attend the speakers' evenings. There is also the opportunity for members to share photos or articles about their research.

Our Speakers evenings take place at 7pm on the second Wednesday of each month, September to November and January to May.

The fallen cross in the photograph featured in last year's August issue of the Newsletter. Ruth McIntosh our Secretary gave us the details about Private William McKenzie of the 5th Scottish Rifles (Cameronians), who was killed on 17th December 1916. Aside from the fact that his name is carved on the imposing memorial designed by Sir Edwin Lutyens at Theipval in France, little or nothing has so far been discovered about Private McKenzie. His name is almost lost amongst the more than 72,000 men who gave their all during the various battles of the Somme between July 1915 and February 1918. It is worth noting that this memorial is completely reserved for soldiers who have no known grave. Inscribed on the memorial in words which in a most poignant manner express the full meaning of the horrors of the war that this cenotaph commemorates.

HERE ARE RECORDED / NAMES OF OFFICERS / AND MEN OF THE / BRITISH ARMIES WHO FELL / ON THE SOMME BATTLEFIELDS / JULY 1915 FEBRUARY 1918 / BUT TO WHOM / THE FORTUNE OF WAR / DENIED THE KNOWN / AND HONOURED BURIAL / GIVEN TO THEIR / COMRADES IN DEATH.

Initially we discovered the cross almost entirely covered by leaves and tree roots in a very sorry state of neglect.

Although not a Commonwealth War Graves memorial, it is indeed a sad thing to consider how this soldier came to give the ultimate sacrifice and yet in a future time become so utterly forgotten that a memory of his priceless gift to us lies in such an inglorious manner.

An appeal last year through the Northern Scot, unfortunately brought no new information about this forgotten soldier. However, after discussing the problem with Ken Kennedy of the Moray Lands and Parks Department, he arranged to have the offending tree removed. This in a way was a pity as it is always sad when trees have to be destroyed! As can be seen from the photograph, the cross shaft now lies over the tree roots which are quite substantial. So what comes next?

Ideally it would be best if the tree roots could be removed completely and the cross somehow re-erected in some suitable way. This is still under discussion, but we first have to establish the precise lair record. If this project could be achieved during the coming year, it would perhaps be a fitting that some form of military ceremony was held, say on the 100th anniversary of his death.

Also reported in the August Newsletter was our own Helen's "Scottish Civic Champion's Award" which she received from Derek Mackay MSP at The Lighthouse, Glasgow on 27th April. This award was and is most certainly well deserved, as it reflects the very considerable and tireless efforts she has made over the years on behalf of the Group.

During this last season the work of recording MIs in the field continued at a reasonable pace, although for quite a while we struggled at times to get enough members to do the necessary. However, as usual we did manage to accomplish a fair amount. Latterly we were in contact with members of the LDS Church and a number of them came out as a separate group and took part in a number of recording sessions at New Elgin (South Section). It has been agreed that if they wish to continue their volunteer work, they can finish recording the whole of North Section which they started last year. This new area contains a very large number of modern memorials.

Cullen New Cemetery, Cullen & Deskford New Cemetery, Deskford and the three burial grounds at Tomintoul, along with Rothiemay all have been more or less straight forward from a recording point of view. We hope to finish all of these early in our forthcoming season and head for pastures new such as at Grange, Inveravon and perhaps Edinkillie. At the ancient site of Deskford we soon discovered that sometime in the past, most of the older tombstones had been removed, with several 18th century table-stone tops being decanted to a dump area at the rear of the ruined church. This is quite maddening as they have been stacked in an upright position, so that almost all the inscriptions are hidden from view.

Particularly over the winter months a great deal of backroom work has been undertaken for the publication of three of our new MI books. These are the modern public cemetery of Burnside at Rathven, the old Churchyard of Rathven and the Michael Kirk & Gordonstoun School. Rathven old and new burial grounds were of interest in several ways, one in particular being the frequent use of Tee-names, used by the local community to distinguish people with the same surname. The Michael Kirk book is a new venture in publication terms. One of the reasons for re-recording the MIs was that we wanted to include photographs of every memorial for our Website archive. Although only a few extra burials have taken place since it was last recorded in 2002 by Bruce Bishop for the Aberdeen & North East Scotland Family History Society, it was felt that it would not be worth trying to produce another version of basically the same thing. Therefore the idea of publishing photographs of each stone and carving both inside and outside the church seemed a good idea. While we were preparing the book, we received permission to photograph and publish several memorials in and around Gordonstoun School, so it seemed worth while rethinking our plans. Getting the whole thing printed at a reasonable cost, proved problematic but a trial run was produced by our own Derek Page. However, the cover caused something of an additional problem and in the end we got a small run printed a very reasonable price via two local firms jointly.

There seem to be moves afoot on a national basis at last to genuinely recognize the importance of "Ancestral Tourism" in Scotland. One of the key aspects of family history research must surely lie within our burial grounds, both old and new. Moray in particular is blessed with a very valuable and ancient heritage when it comes to many of its churches and churchyards which hold a treasure-house of information that in some cases dates back to the 15th century. Sadly many of these memorials have been much neglected in the past, but a realization of their true worth is gradually making itself known amongst the wider community.

Through the auspices of Moray Heritage Connections (MHC), Helen and I have lately been trying to stimulate interest in the possible creation of some form of Heritage /Church & Churchyard Trail and discussions are ongoing with the folk at Knockando Woollen Mill about the prospect of some form of joint co-operation later this year. I suspect it is a case of "Watch this Space." Perhaps the Tourist Industry in general needs to take notice of people like Peter Butters in Australia who in dealing with Lindsay our Webmaster and the Local Heritage Centre at East End School said:-

"As with my experiences with Lindsay, their staff were so professional and helpful with their resources, and efficient and quick in mailing out purchases. I was in awe. No exaggeration, my treatment from Moray has been exceptional, to the degree that several years down the track, I hope to visit."

Moray & Nairn FHS

In February the Moray & Nairn Family History Society celebrated its sixth birthday and continues to move along if only slowly, and we will continue to produce at least 3 publications this year.

Work this year will see us complete the work which we started at Barevan Churchyard last summer and hopefully the weather will help us get it completed. Also this year will see the publication of records relating to Nairn Poorhouse. Unfortunately the Poorhouse registers have been lost but these records are taken from those parishes that had beds in the Poorhouse and sent their paupers there to be boarded. Work has involved going through the parish minutes and rolls that survive for details of entries of persons placed in the Poorhouse. Work also continues on our transcription of deaths from a Nairn Newspaper the St. Ninian Press which was in publication from 1892 to 1917.

Shetland FHS

Due to the eclipse on 20th March our cruise season started early with two liners calling on their way north to the Faroe Islands for the best view. As usual, there were some visitors researching whilst in port and we hope to welcome more during the season. Our summer visitor schedule is already filling up fast and it is always helpful to have prior knowledge so that information can be prepared in advance.

The "Sharing Shetland Surnames" programme is operating again this year with the names featured – MOUAT (with all spelling variants) for May/June, ARCUS for July/August, and ABERNETHY for September/October. Venues to launch each of these names are being planned.

The Merchant Navy Discharge Book project, undertaken by the SFHS and the local Merchant Navy Association is still doing well with almost 1000 responses. To date, books have come from local Shetlanders, from other parts of the U.K. and also from Australia, New Zealand and Canada. This is a valuable source of information for areas with a maritime heritage.

Our World War 1 commemoration work continues with events, meetings and school visits to help pupils with research. A grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund to the Anderson High School, Lerwick has helped the school in its research into the school WW1 Roll of Honour with a meeting arranged for the end of March to bring pupils together with relatives of the fallen, so obtaining more family information. A moving ceremony took place at the County War Memorial with the unveiling of a commemorative paving slab in honour of Lieutenant William Bruce – the only person in Shetland's World War One Roll of Honour to be awarded the Victoria Cross. The event took place on 19th December, 2014, one hundred years to the day since Lt. Bruce was killed in action at Givenchy, France.

More details are now available for the Society's "Maritime Heritage Trip" in September, which will be based in Kent, near to Chatham and Greenwich with the visit to the Society of Genealogists and Dr Beattie's lecture, "My Ancestor came from Shetland" the highlight of the week.

As well as our regular weekday openings from 2-4 p.m. the summer season May – August morning openings for visitors will be between 10:00- 12:00 on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Scotslot

SCOTSLOT, a group of family historians with Scottish forebears, meets in Harpenden, Hertfordshire, some 30 miles north of London. In recent years, our membership numbers and those attending our meetings have steadily declined. With all the information now available on-line, perhaps all we can really offer a potential new member is the expertise we, as a group, have accumulated over many years. Early this year, we met to discuss our future and realised that those members of long standing thoroughly enjoyed our meetings and the opportunities they offered for discussion and reminiscence. And so we decided that we would continue to meet to do just that! We will still address the family history problems we encounter and share information on new sources and perhaps invite the occasional guest speaker!

Tay Valley FHS

Things were quieter towards the end of the year. The last Council meeting for the year was in early December and the Centre was closed for two weeks over the holiday season, with a Council member and a Volunteer checking the facilities for mail and anything untoward.

In January, Membership was very busy with renewals and during this time our server gave us some concerns, which was a big inconvenience, but visitors, volunteers and others coped well.

That month too, at the first Council meeting of the year our Editor reported that she was finalising the 100th edition of our Journal 'The Historian' due for publication in February— a big milestone for us. Council has been surveying the membership, with a view to having an e-journal. Also at that time, we finalised the plans for our second annual volunteer and member afternoon get-together which was held the first Saturday in February. We considered this successful, with the attendance around eighty. Slides of Dundee Blairgowrie and areas around were shown while refreshments were served.

In early March, our Chair attended the SAFHS AGM and Council meetings. The Find My Past information has been forwarded to our Council. On the 25th she represented our society at an Angus Heritage meeting held in the Retreat at Glen Esk.

We have visitors from home and abroad with stories of their research experiences and interest in the surroundings and others who donate Family Group Sheets and Pedigree charts. Work in the Book Shop and on the Website is ongoing, as is the organisation within the Library.

Plans are well in hand for our AGM, which will be held on Wednesday May 20, 2015 at 7.15 pm, in Abertay University, Dundee.

BOOK REVIEW

Bruce B Bishop FSA Scot, ASGRA

The Memorial in the School The Story of the Teachers and Pupils from Kirkcaldy High School Who died in the Great War John S B Beck

When John Beck first attended the newly-built Kirkcaldy High School in 1957, he "became aware of the School War Memorial situated in the main entrance hall, but like most of my contemporaries I ignored it and never really stopped to study the names or even to contemplate why it was there. They were just some folk who had died during the First World War and who had no connection to me".

Some half a century later, and a member of the Friends of Kirkcaldy High School, his curiosity was aroused, and he decided that perhaps he could flesh out these names with a short biography of each of them, and so the idea for "The Memorial in the School" was born.

Following a brief history of Kirkcaldy schools, from the Burgh School in 1582 through to the opening of the new High School in 1957, the book develops into three parts.

The first part covers the three teachers who died in the Great War, and gives a short biography of each of these men, their service history, and information about their death. The second part similarly records in more detail the parentage, backgrounds, and the ultimate demise of the 105 pupils and former pupils of the school who died serving their country during that war. The final part of this book contains Appendices identifying CWGC Cemeteries and other Memorials, Lists of the Regiments in which they served, various photographs and an analysis of distribution of the families throughout the school catchment area.

It is a pity that Service Numbers have not been included, as this would be of value to anyone undertaking further research – the service numbers would be available on the CWGC website. That aside, however, it is a well-researched and informative book, giving fascinating information to anyone whose family background takes them back to Kirkcaldy. This book is a valuable addition to the bookshelves of any serious family historian.

Editor: I was a pupil of KHS from 1967-1973 and I don't ever remember being particularly aware of the monument either, but I suppose you don't think about such things when you are young. As a fellow "Friends of Kirkcaldy High School" committee member, I congratulate John Beck on his work to produce this book. All profits from the book are going to Kirkcaldy High School.
